SATURDAY MORNING, MAR. 4, 1876.

LOCAL AND STATE AFFAIRS.

Items of Local Interest.

James Taylor, of Newark, the visitor, says, going to exhibit a novelty in rag carpets at the Centennial.

Wm. H. Naff, an old and widely known citizen of Wilmington, died last week. He was 82 years old.

The revival meetings at the M. E. Church, in this town, are still continued (or have been this week) being attended with much good.

"Birds in their little nests agree," but the Wilmington Republican papers don't agree worth a cent. The Commercial favors a hard money policy and the Republicans don't.

Mr. J. T. Carpenter says our local school the story of his calf last week by saying it has been ten weeks. It does make some difference.

The wooden mills of Dean & Pilling, at Newark, are doing a thriving business, and are, at present, turning out from a thousand to twelve hundred yards of finished cloth, daily.

A union Sunday prayer meeting has been held every day this week in the Presbyterian and Methodist churches. The meetings were well attended and were very interesting and pleasant.

Mr. Maxwell, of the Middletown Hotel, has put a billiard table in what used to be called the "reading room" in his hotel. Billiard players can now find that amusement at either hotel.

George W. Wilson's new furniture store, nearly opposite our sanctum, is rapidly approaching completion and will soon be ready for occupancy. Then we will be rid of the carpenters' clutter.

The peach season of 1875 is not yet over with some people. At least, so we infer from their delay in settling their bills, which they promised to do as soon as they "got through with their peaches."

The communion sacrament will be celebrated at the Presbyterian church, and, perhaps also at the other churches of this town, to-morrow, when a number of persons are expected to unite with the church.

The Iowa election for Commissioner, Assessor, Treasurer and Alderman, will be held on Monday next. We have not yet seen any ticket, but suppose a good citizens' ticket will be nominated and run.

Enough subscriptions are said to have been obtained to build the much talked-of railroad from Leves to Rehoboth Camp ground, and it is expected that the road will be completed in time for the next camp-meeting.

The Smyrna merchants have been closing their stores at seven o'clock during the protracted meetings of the past seven weeks, and are so well satisfied with the success of the plan that they talk of keeping it up.

Two funerals on the same day and in the same cemetery are rather unusual in this community, but the funerals of Miss Louisa Gibbs and Mr. Frank Lynch both took place at St. Ann's cemetery on Thursday.

A meeting of citizens will be held in Smyrna this evening for the purpose of organizing a company to run a steamboat from Smyrna landing to Philadelphia the coming season, especially during the Centennial Exhibition.

Miss Louisa Gibbs, a much esteemed lady resident of Middletown, and sister of Benjamin Gibbs, Esq., died at her residence on Monday morning. Though Miss Gibbs had been sick for a long time, her death was sudden and unexpected.

Correspondents of the Wilmington Herald have been sending themselves and electrifying the paper's readers by relating some of Esq.'s habits, evidently intending some sharp thrusts at some office-holders and seers.

We desire to call attention of Farmers and Dealers to the advertisement of Soluble Pacific Guano in this issue. The Pacific Guano has been used for many years with marked advantage, and the standard is guaranteed to be as good as ever.

It speaks well for the farming business in this part of the county that there are so few people going out of it. Public sales in this vicinity are remarkably scarce, there being, in fact, fewer this spring than there have been before for several years.

Public Sales.

The following sales of personal property will take place at the dates named:
J. P. Lynch, Summit Bridge, March 6.
James C. Loomis, Summit Bridge, March 6.
James J. Rothwell, Lere, March 9th.
Polk & Cochran, Middletown, March 14th.
Samuel E. Ford, St. Augustine, March 14th.

New Depot.

The Delaware Railroad Company are putting up a new substantial brick depot at Mt.
Pleasant station. These handsome brick buildings are rapidly taking the place of the old frame structures and, in a few years, we may expect to see them "all along the line," and the Delaware railroad will have as handsome a set of station houses as any railroad in the country.

The Peach Outlook.

E. R. Cochran brought to THE TRANSCRIPT office a few days ago a handful of switches cut from the peach trees of S. F. Shallerco, all of which were nearly full of live, healthy looking buds. There were a great many dead ones mixed among them, it is true, but there were plenty left to make, if they should matter, a tremendous big crop of peaches, as far as those trees go. We don't know of what varieties these were, but there were several different kinds, and they were doubtless taken from old trees, for Mr. Cochran and other gentlemen say that the buds on their young trees—that is trees three, four and five years old—are pretty much all killed. Others say that the yellow varieties are only hurt, on this all are agreed. This has certainly been a hard winter on peaches. The warm spells, then sudden cold snaps, have played havoc among the tender buds.

Every gardener sold by Wanamaker & Brown, Sixth and Market streets, Philadelphia, has to pass through the hands of at least four inspectors.

Middletown and Vicinity Items.

BY OUR LOCAL REPORTER.

Elison & Benson have moved into their new store and tin store on Main street.
The weighing of freight cars at Middletown depot continues, and there are few cars that are not depot overloaded.

Farm work will be commenced next Monday by a few farmers near town. Not very promising weather at present.

There has never been a season when houses in Middletown have been in greater demand than the present one. Many changes of residences are to be made this month, and I will give them as an item of information hereafter.

The revival meetings in the M. E. Church in this town closed Thursday night last, after a protraction of eight weeks. Rev. Dr. Matlack did not deem the interest manifested sufficient to warrant him in continuing the meetings. About sixty-five persons professed conversion during the progress of the extra services.

A report has reached Middletown from a distance that a gambling house is kept within sight of the depot, and is patronized by many prominent citizens. A Herald reporter gets these rumors into the shape of facts, we may look for a list of names of those concerned that have heretofore been above suspicion of such unlawful actions.

Two weeks ago I gave an account of a ewe being the mother of four lambs at one birth, and called this remarkable. But this week a more wonderful fact was given to me. One time by a cow belonging to W. P. Howard, near Chesapeake City, Md. The calves are all living and doing well, promising to reach maturity with superior care. Our informant also mentioned a lamb, belonging to James Allen, near the same place, that has five legs and six feet. There are two anomalies that seldom find their equal.

Last Tuesday night thieves entered the yard of Mr. M. E. Walker and stole two fine large turkeys, one of which weighed thirty pounds, and both of them were highly prized by the owner. Mr. W. has a clue that will probably lead to the arrest of the marauders, and it is to be hoped that he will be successful. Some weeks ago two negroes from Maryland, got into the hen coop of John Carroll, of this town, and after cutting off the necks of all the chickens, quietly put them in a bag and were quietly stealing away, when a neighbor saw them, and started after them shouting to them to "drop those chickens." The negroes dropped the bag of dead fowls and made good their escape. Many such depredations have been practiced in this town and vicinity this winter.

Lecture by Mr. Bristol.

Rev. George R. Bristol, of Pilot Bridge, Md., will entertain the citizens of Middletown and vicinity, with select and humorous reading in the town hall, on Tuesday evening next. Mr. Bristol's talents and reputation as an eloquent and well known lecturer are commendation. These readings are produced by those who have heard them as being very pleasing and entertaining, so much so that most all who have heard them once express a desire to hear them again.

A Handsome Windfall.

Mr. and Mrs. Hand, who have for some time been engaged in the service of Mr. Jarvis Spencer, of Kent county, Md., the husband as a farm laborer, recently received intelligence that caused them to lay down the shovel and the hoe and make for the old country—they had fallen heir to an estate of about $125,000.
Such a sudden transition from comfortable poverty to abundant wealth must excite rather queer sensations, but a great many people would be willing to try it. Wouldn't mind it much, ourselves.

Sussex Matters.

[From the Journal.]
The barn on the farm of Mr. John T.
Gordy, near Delmar, was entirely destroyed by fire on Thursday morning, between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock. The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin.

The agents, or rather contractors, of the government are buying all over the country large quantities of ship timber. Sussex county has furnished enough knees in the past year to make a whole year. Why this outcry now?
The prices obtained by our people are very small but the contractors make the money.
Though the winter has been mild and comparatively dry, there has been a general complaint of colds, sore throats, &c. The old English adage "a green yule tide makes a full kirk yard," has been verified this year in Georgetown. There have been an unusually large number of deaths this season in this place.

Grange Lecture at Port Penn.

FRANK TRANSCRIPT: As you are on the lookout for information, it occurs to me you might like an item about a treat we are preparing for the community next week. Port Penn Grange are inclined to be active, but we have no talking men among us, and we concluded some time since to try to secure a good speaker to make an address, not only for our benefit but to enlighten our neighbors with regard to our much misinterpreted order.
This we have succeeded admirably in doing.
Formerly Whitehead, Master of New Jersey State Grange, and formerly Steward of the National Grange, has agreed to be with us on March 8th, and we have secured a hall in the Pier Hotel for the occasion; the lecture is to be free, and will begin at 1 P. M. We hope to see a full turnout of all the farmers and their families within riding distance.
Such an opportunity of hearing one of the best speakers in the Farmers' Order is not often afforded.

The Delaware Building.

The Delaware State Board of Centennial Commissioners have addressed the following appeal to the people of the State: The question is constantly asked of the State Commissioners, "Is Delaware like other States, to have a building upon the Centennial grounds or not?" And then follows the remark: "It will be a great shame, to say the least of it, if there should be no place there for Delawareans, when there will be for the people of the other States." We feel this to be a more serious matter than many suppose it to be. The Centennial Exhibition will be the largest and most complete the world has ever seen. To say nothing of the countless throngs of our own people who will be ever present, from opening to closing, more foreigners of distinction and substance will be there from time to time, than now come to the whole of America in any one year. It therefore is no place upon the grounds which should be known as Delaware's house? Is the State, the little sister of the Old Thirteen, with all her splendid revolutionary fame, and bright record upon the pages of the country's civil history, to be without some place of her own, where her sons and daughters can meet and exchange greetings at the arrival of her Centennial? Yes, as well as that of the great nation she was the first to lead into public sight. It must not be! There must be an ample roof at Fairmount, under which you may sit, and in pleasant converse recount the past of your State and Country, and exchange sentiments of encouragement with respect to their future. It must not be said that the participation of the people of the State is controlled by the passion of aversion—for all know that your means are ample to accomplish anything you really wish, and that on many occasions, far less worthy, they are brought forth without stint or murmur.

Come forward then, fellow-citizens, do each one his part, and help us, as the patriotic fremmen of Wilmington are doing, to erect upon the Centennial grounds a building that will be worthy of you as Delawareans, and have our people from the mortification of seeing their fellow-citizens of the other States surrounding them, and if our State should not keep house there as well as her sisters.

Maryland Affairs.

THE WORCESTER R. R. EXTENSION.—The Shaw Hill Messenger says that the Worcester R. R. extension, completed to the town of Shaw, is now in running order. A pier extending out into the bay 200 feet has been commenced and will be rapidly pushed forward. This pier will be well and substantially built, 30 feet wide, with a T at the end in the water, 70 feet long. On one arm of the T will be the depot, which, like all the others, will be of a substantial and comfortable character. The width of the pier will admit two tracks, so that one may be left one for the system to load direct from their vessels, thus saving the expense of hauling, which item amounts to a considerable sum during a season.

POLICE NEWS.—A lady in town has 16 hens which have laid 2,000 eggs since the first day of March last, hatched and raised 100 chickens, and are still going. These eggs, at 25 cents a dozen, would bring $25.25, say nothing about the chickens. The feed for these hens cost $5.50, which shows a profit of $19.75. And some say there is no profit in raising chickens or keeping hens.
Sally (M.) Answered.

She the Leader of Crisfield, Md., great apprehension is felt on the Peninsula in regard to the fruit crop. The peach buds are swollen almost to bursting, and a storm of freezing weather which invariably visits us in March, would very materially damage this crop.

Wm. Simmons, a lad of thirteen, was arrested in Chestertown, last week, for robbing the captain of a vessel of his pocket, containing a large sum of money—about $120 was recovered.

The Board of Directors of the Mutual Fire Insurance Company has refused to pay the loss of Owen Lynch, of Caroline county, upon his dwelling for failing to pay the premium when due.

The building of the Dorchester & Delaware Railroad cost Dorchester county $50,000. It has directly added to wealth and trade, and property to Cambridge alone a sum nearly double this amount.

Over a hundred persons have connected themselves with the churches at Crisfield, Md., during the revival there.

A PRINTER'S COMPLAINT.

BY ALEXIS.
O, my eyes are sad and tearful, O'er a manuscript that's fearful—But the poet has seemed careful, O'er and o'er; o'er and o'er;
To select such rhymes of treasure,
That would be to all a pleasure,
If there were in better measure, Evermore! Evermore!

Swords of pain my tears are falling,
When I see this horrid spelling;
And my anger's quickly swelling, More and more! More and more!
I behold the punctuation, Give at once an exclamation Of surprise and indignation, And shall do so evermore.

When I try to read the writing, Brain and heart are madly fighting; Then all hopes receive a blighting O'er a manuscript so poor.
You who cause these dire misadventures, Who depend on mere delusions,
Will be loved for such professions Evermore! Evermore!

A VALUABLE WORK.

The Centennial History of the United States, from the Discovery of the American Continent to the Close of the First Century of American Independence. By James D. McCabe, Author of "A Manual of General History," "The Great Republic," &c., &c.
It is a well known fact that the great mass of our people are compelled to rely, for their knowledge of the history of their country, upon the outline works intended for the use of schools, which by their very nature are brief; designed for the comprehension of children, and in every way unsuited to the adult mind. There has long been felt a genuine want of a History of the United States, covering the whole period from the discovery of the Continent to the present day, and presenting in a succinct and comprehensive form the history of our country through its various periods, from a higher and more thorough standpoint than would be proper in a school history. This demand we are happy to say is satisfactorily met in "The Centennial History of the United States," a work which is evidently destined to take rank as the Standard History of our country.
The author, James D. McCabe, is an able and well known historical writer.

It is no duty of details, no boresome effort to inflame the national pride, but is a clear, vivid, and brilliant narrative of the events of our history, from the discovery of the American Continent to the present day. The story of the great struggle with England, the story of the formation of the Federal Constitution, the struggle with England, the story of the War, and the events of our history up to the commencement of the Civil War. The History of the Civil War is related with interest and with strict fidelity to truth. The author writes throughout with calmness and impartiality, and pleads the cause of no section or party. The book contains an Appendix, giving an account of the approaching International Centennial Exhibition.
It is comprised in one large and handsome volume, of 325 pages, and contains 42 fine engravings on steel and wood. The book is issued by the National Publishing Co. of Philadelphia, whose imprint is a guarantee of the excellence of the workmanship. The price is low considering the character of the work, and each subscriber is presented with a handsome lithographic engraving of the Centennial Exhibition Buildings and Grounds.
It is sold by subscription only, and the publishers want agents in every county.

Positively the Best.

Dr. Morris' Syrup of Tar, Wild Cherry and Horehound is the very best medicine prepared, advertised or sold by any person or under any name whatever—for the immediate relief and permanent cure of Coughs, Colds, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all diseases of the consumptive type.
It thoroughly eradicates these alarming symptoms in one half the time required to do so by any other medicine. It is purely vegetable and contains not a particle of opium or other dangerous drug. Physicians all over the country endorse it as the most efficacious antidote known for all disorders of the throat and lungs. It never fails. Every bottle guaranteed to perform exactly as presented.
Be sure to obtain Dr. Morris' Syrup of Tar, Wild Cherry and Horehound. Sold at Dr.
Anderson's Drug Store, Middletown, Del.

It must not be forgotten that in all the hundred years of our national existence no member of the Senate has ever been elected President although a considerable number of Senators have much coveted that distinction. It would be curious if the Centennial year should see the first departure from this traditional disability of the Senate through the election either of Mr. Morton or of Mr.
Cushing.—N. Y. Sun.

A Fact Worth Knowing.

Are you suffering with Consumption, Coughs, Severe Colds settled on the Breast, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs? If so, go to your druggist, Chamberlain, Middletown, or H. P. Baker, Odessa, and get a bottle of BROWNE'S GERMAN SYRUP. This medicine has lately been introduced from Germany and is selling on its own merits. The people are going wild over its success, and druggists all over our country are writing us of its wonderful cures among their customers. We wish to try its superior virtue, get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Large size bottle, 75 cts.
Three doses will relieve any case. Try it.

DIED.—In this town, Monday, the 28th ult., Miss Louisa Gibbs.
LYONS.—At the residence of his father, near Middletown, on Tuesday the 29th ult., Frank Dell, Lynch, in his 27th year.
